Court Won't Review Contempt Case

WASHINGTON (AP) The Supreme Court has refused to review the contempt of court conviction of a former University of Oregon newspaper editor and she says she'll pay the $300 fine rather than to jail.

Mrs. Michael Conrad, formerly Annette Buchanan, said Monday she would prefer to serve a jail sentence on principle, but will pay the fine and remain at her job on the copy desk of the Oregonian in Portland.

She was convicted for refusing to give an Oregon grand jury her sources for a May 24, 1966, story she had written titled "Students Condone Marijuana Use."

The story appeared in the university newspaper, the Daily Emerald, of which she was managing editor.

War Is Not Legal, Says Dr. Spock

By WILLIAM F. NICHOLSON
Associated Press Writer
BOSTON (AP) — The war in Vietnam "has no shred of legality and will blacken the reputations of my country for decades and centuries to come," says Dr. Benjamin Spock.

The pediatrician called U.S. involvement in the war "outrageous and abominable" as he testified Monday in defense against federal charges that he and four other men conspired to violate draft laws.

He said American forces have killed "hundreds of thousands" of civilians while fighting in Vietnam and that thousands of U.S. troops have been killed needlessly.

"What's the use of a physician like myself in helping to bring up children to be killed in a cause which is ignoble?" he said about American war dead.

He told the all-male jury that America is participating in a war which is "totally illegal, immoral, unwinnable and detrimental to the best interests of the United States."

Spock said he believed the United States violated the Geneva accords of 1954 which were drawn up to partition Indochina into North and South Vietnam after the forces of Ho Chi Minh defeated the French.

The accords called for elections in 1956. Instead, Spock charged the United States introduced "a puppet leader named Diem" to the South Vietnamese government and supplied him with money and guns.

On trial with the 65-year-old Spock are Yale Chaplain William Sloane Coffin Jr., 43; Mitchell Goodman, 44, a writer and teacher from Temple, Maine; Marcus Raskin, 34, a Washington research director; and Michael Ferber, 23, a Harvard graduate student.

"Clint" Huey, who has practiced law at Warren the past 13 years.

Huey, a native of Hot Springs, was state fire marshal for six months, Workmen's Compensation Commission referee for a year, served two years as Warren Municipal Judge, and served three years as Bradley County deputy prosecutor.

Warren Man Named U.S. Attorney

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A 39-year-old Warren lawyer has been named assistant U.S. attorney for the eastern district of Arkansas.

U.S. Atty. W. H. "Sonny" Dillahunty announced Monday the appointment of T. C.

Business Loans Total $201,400

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Small Business Administration has made 17 loans totaling $201,400 for rebuilding houses destroyed or damaged by the tornado that struck Greenwood April 19.

Chris W. Ferguson, director of the Little Rock office of the SBA, said two other loans totaling $22,900 had been issued for rebuilding businesses. He said five more applications for loans at Greenwood were being processed.

The loans carry an interest rate of 3 per cent and are insured for the amount of loss not covered by insurance.

The tornado killed 14 persons and injured 200.

Ferguson said 14 applications from the areas hit by tornadoes May 15 had been received and four had been approved. The tornadoes struck Jonesboro, Oil Trough, Tuckerman, Mountain Home and Manila, killing 45 persons and injuring hundreds.

Wedding Vows Are Repeated

MRS. BOBBY LYNN BRITAIN

The wedding of Miss Karen Ann Cobb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor H. Cobb, and Bobby Lynn Britain, son of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Britain of Little Rock, was solemnized on Thursday evening, June 6 in the sanctuary of the First United Methodist Church.

The Rev. Gladwin Connell of Little Rock officiated at the double-ring ceremony before a background of votive candles in spiral candelabra. The altar was flanked by baskets of white gladiolus and Majestic daisies. White tapers were used in seven-branched candelabra entwined with greenery and gardenias.

Miss Dora Ann King, organist, played a program of wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white satin sheath with a lace jacket which had bell-shaped sleeves. The chapel train was attached to the back of the Empire waistline. The bride's only jewelry was a pearl necklace, a gift of the groom, and lotus blossoms held in place her shoulder-length veil. She carried a cascade of gardenias.

The bride's honor attendants were Mrs. Jerry Swope of St. Louis and Miss Gail Wise of Little Rock. They wore a full-length gown of blue summer brocade, and in their hair were blue flowers holding short veils. Dressed in similar fashion were the bridesmaids, Miss Kathy Thrash and Miss Charlie Shumate of St. Louis. Each of the attendants carried a nosegay of white roses and blue star flowers.

George B. Britain served his son as best man.

Groomsmen were Robin Miller of Augusta, Jerry Swope of St. Louis and Steve Kilpatrick of Ft. Smith. Ushers, who also lighted the candles, were Frank Warren of Conway and Jim Guthrie of Camden. Other ushers were Stuart Pennington of Hot Springs, Lockhart, They came from Little Rock to take part Sunday in the Century Bible Class "birthday."

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Clifton, Camden, observed the anniversary of the men's Bible Class at the Methodist Church, Sunday. He was the first class president. They also visited Mrs. C. W. Bridgers, who received a plaque in memory of her husband, the only deceased past president of the class.

Women Happy Over Woman Governor

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. Hil-da Bynoe, a practicing physician and mother of two teen-age sons, says that "women are happy all over the Caribbean" about her crown appointment as the first woman governor of a British Commonwealth country. She was sworn in Saturday as governor of Grenada, a 133 square mile island in the British West Indies' Windwards.

"The men were completely with us on this appointment," she said in a telephone interview Monday. Anyway, men against women on the islands, she said, although few women have risen very high in government.

"Of course, there are very few men like my husband, to give his wife a chance," she said of Peter Bynoe, an ex-RAF flying officer and an architect, whom she married in 1947.

"Don't misunderstand," she added quickly. "I am a very typical feminine woman, not at all masculine. I like clothes, and all the frivolity and all the fun of being a woman. No, I don't wear miniskirts, they are for the young, but I do wear my skirts above my knees."

The 46-year-old governor, who was born in Grenada, said that before the appointment "I was a typical suburban housewife and doctor in Trinidad, working at my medical practice and looking after my family."

Sons Roland 16 and Michael 15 are very proud of their mother, she said.

She is 5-foot-6½ and weighs about 160 pounds—"all good solid weight, solid bone structure." "The appointment, a five-year assignment, was made on the advice of the government," she explained. "The executive power is in the hands of the elected government. I, like the queen of England, act on the advice of the cabinet."

Grenada, with a population of about 89,000 people, is largely agricultural, "but in recent times we have been developing tourism," she said.

to the guests.

When the couple left for a wedding trip, the bride wore a white suit with navy trim and navy accessories. She pinned a gardenia from her wedding bouquet at her shoulder.

Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Britain will be at home in Little Rock at 4205 "C" Street. In the fall he will continue his pre-law course of study at Hendrix, and she will enter the University Medical Center in Little Rock.

better be careful. I had a cousin who retired last year, and he keeled over the very next day. He never got to collect a penny of pension money from the firm."

"Boy, do I envy you! nothing to do the rest of your life but sit on your front porch and wonder how to cure your rheumatism."

"I hear Ned was the handsomest man in the place when he first came here. Well, time does things to everybody."

"Now remember, Jane, after we give Ned his present, you throw both arms around him and give him a great big kiss. After all, it's your turn. I had to kiss old Mr. Robbins goodbye when he retired last February

One Charge Against Brown Is Dropped

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Authorities have dropped an assault case against former pro football star Jimmy Brown in connection with a high-fashion model found injured beneath his second-floor balcony.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Phillips Mueller said his office would not issue a complaint because of insufficient evidence. After his arrest Brown had been booked on suspicion of assault with intent to commit murder.

"There was not sufficient evidence to convict," Mueller said Monday. "This is aside from the fact that the woman would not sign the complaint." He added, however, that a complaint could be issued if "some evidence turns up in the future."

The German-born model, Eva Marie Bohn-Chin, 22, hospitalized in fair condition, wasn't available for comment.

Mueller said his office will file a complaint charging Brown with battery against a police officer, a felony.

Brown was arrested Sunday night after neighbors in his West Hollywood apartment reported a fight.

Deputies discovered Miss Bohn-Chin semiconscious on the concrete patio about 20 feet below Brown's balcony.

Brown was freed Monday on $12,500 bond.

Doctors said Miss Bohn-Chin had a dislocated shoulder and bruises on her head, mouth and cheeks.

Deputy John Texeria, 165 pounds, said the 228-pound Brown knocked him seven feet with a swing of his left arm when the officer attempted to enter the apartment.

Officers would not comment on the progress of their investi-

MRS. DANNY COX

The First Baptist Church of Prescott was the scene at 7:30 p.m. Friday, May 31 of the marriage of Miss Gilda Faye Hines and Danny Scott Cox, Rev. D. D. Smithers read the vows uniting the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Hines 745 Rosston Road, Prescott, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Cox of Prescott.

Music for the ceremony was presented by Mrs. David Hangation to determine what happened in the apartment.

They did report finding blood on the bed, the rug, the walls and a towel in the apartment.

Brown was quoted in the sheriff's report as saying: "You big white cops and your God damn system. Everything is against the Negroes. In order to get in, you are going to have to shoot me first."

Miss Bohn-Chin is the daughter of a Jamaican diplomat and a German woman. She is described by her agents as looking "like a Negro with an oriental strain."

During his nine-year National Football League career, Brown carried the ball 2,359 times for 12,312 yards before retiring in 1966 to become an actor.

ning, organist and Mr. David Hanning, soloist. Lighting the candles were Gay Campbell and Chris Palmer.

The bride's father gave her in marriage. She wore a formal gown with pearls and scalloped chantilly lace encircling the oval neckline. Small pearls accentuate the yoke redigate front revealing a dime-fit A-line imported organza gown. The lace cage effect swept to a wateau chapel train. A crown of pearls and crystals held her elbow-length veil, and she carried a bouquet of jipthorichids, french mums and English ivy.

Miss Brenda Kay Hines was her sister's maid of honor. Others attendants were: Miss Judy McKinnon, Miss Carolyn Haltom, Miss Donna Daniels, and Miss Mike Wahlquist, flower girl, all of Prescott.

David Pry served the groom as best man. Groomsmen were Douglas Hine, Sid Meador, Jackie Wilson of Prescott. Ushers were Dwight Williams of Rosston and Bill Cox of Crossett.

After a reception at the church, the couple left for a trip to Hot Springs. The couple will be at home at 224 East 39th Street, Texarkana, Arkansas.

Dark's Move Fights Last Night Pays Off For Indians

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Cleveland Manager Alvin Dark let Lee Maye, Stan Williams and Mike Paul go back to doing what comes naturally, and it all turned out wonderfully for the Indians.

Last Friday night, Paul was pitching in relief against Detroit with a one run lead and retired the first two hitters in the ninth inning. But Dark moved him to first base and brought Williams out of the bullpen.

Williams allowed a single, Paul returned to the mound and Maye went to first base and fumbled a ground ball. The next hitter slammed a triple that beat the Indians.

Monday night, with Maye in the outfield, Williams the starting pitcher and Paul sticking to the mound in relief, the Indians barged by Oakland 7-2 and held onto second place in the American League.

Maye keyed a three-run first inning burst with a triple and Williams protected his advantage until the seventh when Paul bailed him out of a jam that cut the lead to 4-2. Dark let Paul stick to pitching the rest of the way and the Athletics never threatened again.

The victory cut Detroit's first-place lead over the Indians to three games and ruined Baltimore's chance of overtaking Cleveland as the Orioles downed Washington 4-1 behind Jim Hardin's four-hitter.

In the other AL game, the Chicago White Sox scored three times in the ninth inning for a 5-2 decision over the New York Yankees. California was rained out at Boston in the only other scheduled game.

In the National League, the St. Louis Cardinals shaded Atlanta 4-3 and the New York Mets nipped Los Angeles 1-0 in 10 innings at night, and the Chicago Cubs edged Cincinnati 4-3 and San Francisco blasted Pittsburgh 8-0 in afternoon contests.

After Jose Cardenal and Larry Brown started the first for Cleveland with singles off loser Lew Krausse, 2-7, and Tony Horton, playing first base, hit a sacrifice fly, Maye tripled for another run and scored on Duke Sims' hit.

Oakland never caught up, although the A's did get rid of Williams in the seventh with two walks and run-scoring singles by Reggie Smith and Bert Campaneris. But Paul entered and silenced any further Oakland hopes.

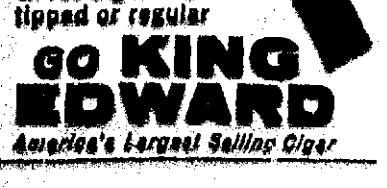

Just to be on the safe side, the Indians added three runs in the eighth to insure Williams' fifth victory in eight decisions.

Hardin certainly showed Washington what he does best as the 24-year-old right-hander won his eighth game against only two losses. He started slow and gave up three hits and a run in the first inning, but the Senators got only one bad hop single from then on as their record against the Orioles fell to 0-8 this season.

Boog Powell gave Hardin the runs he needed with a sacrifice fly in the first inning and a run-scoring single in the third against loser Camilo Pascual, 5-4.

Luis Aparicio, who singled and scored on Wayne Causey's pinch hit in the fifth inning for a 2-1 lead, blooped a double in the ninth to send the White Sox ahead of the Yankees. Bill Voss added a two-run single as reliever Dooley Womack's record fell to 0-5 and Wilbur Wood raised his to 4-2.

Tom McCraw of the Sox and Andy Kosco each hit solo homers and the Yankees tied the game 2-2 in the seventh on Charley Smith's sixth pinch hit in eight tries off the bench.

Maris' Hit Paves Way for Cards

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer
Roger Maris' tender heel probably hurts a lot less than Phil Niekro's scraped knuckles after their most recent duel at 80 feet, 6 inches.

Maris limped out of St. Louis' starting line-up Monday night with a bruised heel after smashing a two-run third inning homer that knocked out knuckleballer Niekro and powered the Cardinals to a 4-3 victory over the Atlanta Braves.

After the ailing outfielder's third homer snapped a 2-2 tie, southpaw Larry Jaster and rookie reliever Wayne Granger made it stand up as the National League leaders beat the Braves.

The New York Mets nipped Los Angeles 1-0 in 10 innings on Tom Seaver's four-hitter and Al Wels' run-scoring single; San Francisco whipped Pittsburgh 8-0 behind Juan Marichal and the Chicago Cubs downed Cincinnati 4-3. Houston and Philadelphia were idle.

In American League action Cleveland thumped Oakland 7-2, Baltimore trimmed Washington 4-1 and the Chicago White Sox beat the New York Yankees 5-2. California and Boston were rained out. Detroit and Minnesota had the day off.

Maris' homer, which followed a double by Lou Brock, saddled Niekro with his fifth loss in 10 decisions while inflating his earned run average to 4.19.

The Cardinals scored two second inning runs on singles by Cepeda, Tim McCarver and Mike Shannon plus a ground out. Deron Johnson and Bob Tillman tagged Jaster for homers in the bottom of the second, tying it 2-2.

Granger replaced Jaster, 5-2, in the eighth with two on and one out, gave up a run-scoring single to Hank Aaron and then got Joe Torre to bounce into a double play before checking the Braves in the ninth.

Seaver stopped the Dodgers' winning streak at seven games in a tight duel with loser Don Sutton, who allowed only three hits until the 10th. Then Ron Swoboda walked, took third on Kevin Collins' single and scored the game's only run on Wels' single to center.

The victory gave Seaver a 4-5 mark while Sutton, who struck out 10 slipped to 3-6 on the year. Marichal, winningest pitcher in the majors, fired a four-hitter for his first shutout of the season and 11th victory against two setbacks. The Giants' ace struck out eight on the way to his seventh successive triumph.

Willie Cays and Ollie Brown each drove in two runs and Willie McCovey hit his 11th homer as the Giants moved past Los Angeles and Atlanta into second place, three games off the pace.

Chicago's Ernie Banks clubbed his 10th and 11th homers, but the Cubs fell behind 3-2 before overtaking Cincinnati on Billy Williams' two-run double in the seventh.

Left-hander Ken Holtzman picked up his fifth victory against four losses with late inning help from relievers Chuck Hartenstein and Phil Regan.

Way Cleared for Clay to Appeal Case

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The way has been cleared for Cassius Clay, the boxer stripped of the world's heavyweight title when he refused to accept induction into the armed forces, to appeal his federal court conviction to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Charles Morgan Jr., an Atlanta attorney for the American Civil Liberties Union, said Monday after the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals rejected a request for an "en banc" rehearing of Clay's conviction, that he would appeal to the nation's highest court within 30 days.

The Supreme Court is expected to adjourn sometime this month until early October and presumably won't act on the Clay appeal until the fall.

The nine justices may simply refuse to review the five-year prison sentence and $10,000 fine given Clay after his conviction in U.S. District Court at Houston, Tex., last June 20.

It could be as late as next spring before any decision is reached if the Supreme Court decides to review the case.

"It's all in the hands of Allah, now," said Clay in Chicago, adding that he wasn't surprised about the New Orleans Appellate Court decision.

A normal three-judge panel of the 5th Circuit Court had upheld the conviction in an opinion issued here May 6. It rejected the claim by Clay, who prefers his Black Muslim name of Muhammad Ali, that he was a valid conscientious objector to military service because he is a minister of the sect.

His attorneys asked the entire 13-man appeals court to review the appeal "en banc." Mondays one-sentence opinion issued here simply denied a rehearing.

In a highly publicized move April 28, 1967 at the Houston Induction Center on April 28, 1967, the Louisville, Ky., native refused to take the traditional one-step forward which signifies induction into the Army.

Boxing associations stripped him of the heavyweight title even before his trial at Houston on charges of refusing induction.

Qualifying in Ft. Smith
FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP) — The honeymoon starts today with the qualifying round of the Women's State Golf Tournament, and in at least one case you can take that almost literally.

Former champion Nedra Dumas of North Little Rock now is married and is on her honeymoon. She won't compete this year.

But the absence of the 1966 champion, who, at 24, was the oldest winner of the tournament in recent years, is good news for many of the competitors entered in this, the 45th annual state tournament.

Other standout youngsters not slated for the meet this time are Dorothy Germain of Blytheville, the defending champion; Susan Gregory of Pine Bluff, the 1965 winner; Becky Glasscock, also of Pine Bluff and the 1964 champion.

Miss Glasscock and Miss Gregory both were under 20 when they captured the title. Miss Germain, 21, competes next week in the National Intercollegiate tournament at Durham, N.C.

Among the top contenders for the title are Lea Larson of Conway, the 1962 winner, a college student at the time, and Robin Watson of Crawfordville, the state junior champion.

Miss Jim Wellons of Little Rock, the 1963 winner, is scheduled to compete, and four-time winner Mrs. J. J. Miller of Hot Springs joins Mrs. Carle Robinson of Fort Smith, also a former champion, for another try.

Par is 70, and qualifying will determine the 16 spots in the championship flight. Match play begins Wednesday, with finals set for Saturday.

Roberto Has Been Around a Long Time

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Sports Writer
ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — A veteran writer, who has covered golf since the days of Gene Sarazen, was questioning Roberto De Vicenzo.

"How long have you been coming to tourneys in this country, Roberto?"

The eyes crinkled, the smile flashed and the accented reply came:

"Longer than you have."

The answer—only slightly exaggerated—was typical of the cheerful, gracious gaucho who captured the imagination of the golfing world by the game's greatest blunder, signing away a chance at the Masters Championship.

"I lose my brains," he said in Augusta, Ga., after signing an incorrect scorecard and thereby losing a tie for first place and a shot at a victory in a playoff.

And he might have lost $1 million. Promoters estimate a Masters title can be parlayed into that figure in endorsements, appearances.

But the aging Argentine hasn't lost the captivating smile, the unfailing good cheer, the sparkling wit that made him one of the world's most popular competitors even before he won his first major title, the British Open in 1967.

And he hasn't lost his sense of values.

"The Masters, ah, that was bad," he said today while practicing for the U.S. Open beginning Thursday at the Oak Hill Country Club.

"Not the money. It was the championship I would like to have. I make enough money. What do I need more money for? I have a nice home in Argentina. I have a car. It is a little old, perhaps, but why do I need a new one?"

"And I have a nice family, wife and two boys. One boy is 21, one is 19."

Roberto, big and balding, may have won more professional tournaments than any other golfer the world has known, and he doesn't know how many.

"Maybe 140. Maybe a little more. I don't know for sure," he said. "I play all over the world, Europe, Asia, Australia, South America, everywhere."

Tiger Fever Is Catching in Detroit

By A. F. MAHAN

DETROIT (AP) — People are catching Tiger fever ahead of hay fever this year.

Hay fever, of course, comes with the blooming of the golden rod and rag weed. Tiger fever, on the other hand, is spread by baseball bugs.

Signs that Tiger fever is spreading come from requests for World Series reservations reaching the Detroit Baseball Co. and downtown hotels. And each time the American League Tigers stretch their lead, a few more people catch it.

Hotel people are concerned that if Detroit captures its first American League pennant since 1945—23 long years ago—they might be in trouble.

Not that they couldn't take care of a normal Series crush of visitors, but billed to start Oct. 6—when the fourth game of the Series would be played here—is the annual convention of the National Association of Funeral Directors.

Which caused one wag to remark: "That'd be just what Detroit needed if we lost in four."

Incidentally, neither the baseball club nor the hotels are taking any reservations yet, even if Bill Rigney of the California Angels did say a few weeks back Detroit was the club to beat for the pennant.

The Sheraton-Cadillac, the city's largest hotel, has reserved 750 of its 1,200 rooms for the funeral directors.

And if the Tigers were to win, it would naturally be expected to take care of the nine other American League clubs which stop there during the season, and it has promised Watson Spoelstra of the Detroit News, president of the Baseball Writers' Association, to hold back 50 rooms for newsmen and turn its grand ballroom into a press room—if.

William Goldsberry, Sheraton-Cadillac manager, says requests for Series come in one or two a day, and more if the Tigers happen to sweep a doubleheader. But he adds: "A lot of things can happen in four months."

Tall Cager Signs With Vanderbilt

MEOPHE, Tenn. (AP) — The recruiting chase after 7-foot-2 Steve Turner ended when he signed a basketball scholarship agreement with Vanderbilt University.

NCAA Reports Financial Troubles

CHICAGO (AP) — A financial crisis is developing on the college athletic front as the National Collegiate Athletic Association reported Monday.

Marcus Plant, of the University of Michigan and NCAA president, said "New ways and means must be found to finance our expanding activities."

The report is the third of a series repeated every fifth year, and the 10-year record shows finances are being strained by increases in costs and the pressure for more facilities and participation opportunities.

"There are obvious limitations on gate income as a support factor because of increased student bodies, practical limitations on fieldhouse and stadium capacities and also a practical ceiling on the price of tickets," said Plant.

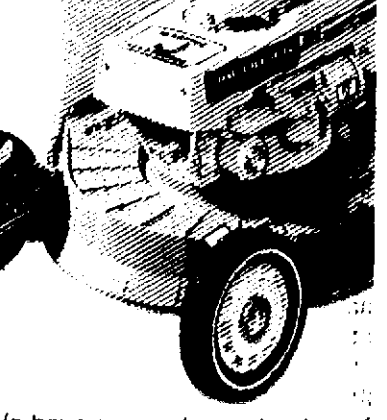

"The main reason for the report," said Plant, "is to bring to the attention of the colleges a good picture of what the situation is and where the problems lie. There is no immediate or tangible result foreseen. But there has been some evidence of necessary cost cutting by schools, like reduction in squads."

Plant cited the possibility of general college revenue or governmental assistance in the building and maintenance of facilities "as a means of dealing with what could be a financial crisis in the colleges' expanded sports, physical preparedness and recreational programs."

The survey, packed with statistics, is to be distributed to college administrators and has been filed with Vice President Hubert Humphrey and the U.S. Congress.

Democratic Candidates Rap Governor

By RUTH ANN VAUGHAN
Associated Press Writer

Two Democratic gubernatorial hopefuls unspooling their first shots of the campaign Monday night and laid at Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller's doorstep charges that he has mismanaged state funds.

State Rep. Marion Crank of Foreman started his campaign with a 15-minute address to a crowd of about 2,000 in his hometown and Little Rock insurance man Frank Whitbeck began his with a 30-minute speech over five television stations.

The planking in the platforms was, in many cases, the same, and it was plain that one of the biggest issues in this campaign will revolve around a word almost synonymous with the Rockefeller family name—money.

"We can't help the old folks, the school children, the mentally retarded, the university and college students unless we first take care of the tax dollar you give us to operate the state on," Crank said. "This guy doesn't know how to take care of the money."

He charged that Rockefeller has added 1,700 people to the state payroll and that for the first time in years Arkansas has dropped below average in percentage of per capita income.

"We are deeply concerned and have a right to be," Crank said. "It is extremely important that we stop this downward trend and get the state moving again."

Crank pledged, if elected, to submit reasonable budgets that "cut out the fat."

Whitbeck, calling the Rockefeller administration an experiment that failed, said, "We simply cannot afford the Republican's any longer. Their spoils system has not only licked our financial dishes—clean, it has also eaten the storehouse cupboard bare."

He said the state's industrial growth has slowed, that the rate of new manufacturing jobs fell from 16,531 on June 30, 1966, to 5,344 on March 31, 1967. Last year, Whitbeck said, Arkansas' per capita income gain was 3.4 percent, far behind the national gain, after being 10 points in front of the national average for five years.

Whitbeck also said all of the state's income has been spent and most of the $41 million reserve has been exhausted.

"We are approaching a zero balance, perilously close to financial chaos," he charged.

"Everyone is embarrassed by the near insolvency of state and local government, yet the only solution we have been offered is rather aimless talk about major new taxes."

He said he would not ask for new taxes if he was elected, but he did not rule out the possibility of supporting tax measures once the financial problems were put in order.

Both Crank and Whitbeck also discussed other problems, with Whitbeck calling for gun control legislation on the state level "before, and not after, a national tragedy occurs in Arkansas."

Crank said Rockefeller's promises of prison reform have been "only talk," and that, with more hired guards than he's ever had before, more run-offs have occurred.

He said, if elected, he would select a warden who could keep convicts at the prison.

The fiscal problems, Crank said, extend to the prison system, and he said Rockefeller asked the legislature for $1.8 million during the May special legislative session to the penitentiary could be kept out of debt.

"They have $1 million in the bank, 21,000 acres of Arkansas River bottom land and the labor necessary, no land that is taxed, and they have federal program aid—yet they would go, after one year, broke," he said.

Whitbeck said if he were elected he would want the state to adopt a timetable to increase the state's educational allowance, including teacher salaries. He also called for new programs for gifted and disadvantaged children and for adults, plus expansion of the state's vocational-technical school and junior college program.

He said he would consider repeal or reduction of state sales taxes on food and drugs if the state could compensate by eliminating some existing tax exemptions.

Whitbeck also urged approval of the constitutional convention question on the November general election ballot.

Crank drew applause from his

HELEN HELP US!

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT!

This column is for young people, their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help Us!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush off.

Send your teenage questions to YOUTH ASKED FOR IT, care of Helen Help Us! this newspaper.

WHY AREN'T PARENTS HONEST?

Dear Helen: My folks are pussypoofers.

Instead of coming out with a flat "NO!" when they don't want me to do something, they ease around and try indirect persuasion so I'll "make up my own mind" against doing it. It starts out almost "Yes," but it ends up no dice all the same because by the time they're through talking in riddles I'm out of the mood—or else I get the message and say "Forget it."

I'll be truthful and say that a lot of the time these things I want aren't very smart or practical. But why can't my Dad just once slam his fist on the table and shout, "I said 'NO!' and I mean 'No!' like my girl friend's Dad does? That's more honest than this 'kind and understanding' bit that means the same thing. All I want is a straight, short answer, not a course in child psychology. —TIED UP DOUBLE DOUBLE TALK

Dear Tied: I certainly agree a straightforward "No!" is better than a psychological con game. But the parents should be prepared to back up his "No" with good reasons, if asked. And he shouldn't resent the asking! —H

Dear Helen: About those corny TV commercials. Sometimes the people who write them gag too. My Dad, for example. He says that certain companies stick with the "hard sell," or the goopy stuff because they think the new kind of advertising doesn't make people want to buy—it just amuses them.

When we groan about certain commercials, he says, "Well, you kids like to eat, and it's a living." —SON OF AN ADVERTISING MAN

Dear Son: True. Where it takes "corn" to make the "bread," a family man can't risk his job adding spice. But if the corn gags him, he'd do well to find another company. —H

Dear Helen: A while back I went out with a boy I like very much. I was terribly anxious to date him so I ignored the warnings of my friends who said he was fast.

Well, he went a little farther than he should, but not THAT far, and I didn't mind because I was crazy about him.

But the next day I remembered his reputation, and got to thinking that he feels I'm just another easy mark and it meant nothing to me.

He drove me home that evening and I goofed it up by trying to explain that maybe he'd got the wrong impression of me. Since then we really haven't talked.

Today I read in a magazine that some times boys are afraid to ask a girl out again if they went a little too far on audience when he said he would, as governor, made certain the state was prepared to handle any civil unrest.

"As your governor," he said, "I will have a firm policy regarding your property rights. We can never allow five percent of the people who want to destroy property to do so to the 95 percent who want to lead orderly lives."

Iowa has a so-called right-to-work law, but it has no legislation prohibiting strikes either by public employees or industrial employees. It does have a law prohibiting collective bargaining between state agencies and its employees.

Ohio has had a law for years forbidding strikes by public employees, but teachers and other public employees have struck, threatened to strike and stayed off their jobs for "study sessions" without suffering serious consequences.

Perhaps the most controversial antistrike legislation involves New York State.

For many years, New York State had the so-called Condoning Wadlin law on its books, which forbids strikes by public employees for violators—automatic dismissal, loss of promotion rights and pay raises for those eventually rehired. But over the years, the law was regarded so harsh that the state ignored it, as did employers.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and the New York Legislature fostered a study which produced the Taylor law, enacted last year. It forbids strikes, but does not mandate dismissal of violators. The law switches penalty emphasis from rank-and-file employees to their unions and union leaders. The public employer may obtain a court injunction against striking; if it is violated, the union can be fined up to $10,000 a day for criminal contempt.

Such an injunction was filed during the garbage strike in New York City and the president of the New York City Sanitation Workers' Union was jailed.

The teachers' strike occurred just as the administrative mechanisms for implementing the Taylor law were being set up, and it was generally agreed that it was not a fair test of the law's effectiveness in preventing strikes.

Sanitation union leaders openly defied the no-strike ban and mediation procedures when the garbage dispute arose. A settlement was eventually worked out through binding arbitration. There was criticism at this point that the Taylor law had failed its first big test.

More French Students Fight Police

By STEPHENS BROENING
Associated Press Writer

PARIS (AP) — More than 1,000 students took to the streets of Paris again Monday night, battling police in running skirmishes in the Latin Quarter until dawn following the death of a student.

The pitch of the battle was on a considerably lower key than the student-police clashes last month when hundreds on both sides were injured and two persons were killed.

The drowning of a young man in the Seine at Meulan, outside Paris, sparked the latest demonstrations. The students maintain the police threw him in the river. The police said the student jumped in to evade an identity check.

The National Students Union called for "all the Paris population" to demonstrate tonight.

Monday night the students paraded for several hours before the first exchange of paving stones and tear gas grenades. With the police under orders to be moderate, there were considerable tear gas and concussion grenades but no wholesale violence.

The demonstration came on the first day of France's two-week campaign for National Assembly elections June 23. Meanwhile, an estimated one million workers in key industries remained on strike, with no apparent progress in negotiations. The biggest automobile companies are still closed down and most large Paris department stores are shut. High schools have not been reopened and universities remain occupied by striking students.

Although the French government has managed to come to terms with the overwhelming majority of the striking workers by granting substantial wage increases, the student uprisings are another matter.

The students not only demand university reform but want an end to "bourgeois society and its values." They say the university system, as it is now constituted, is another tool of that society to advance its values.

So far, the government has refused to send police into the schools to end the rebel occupation. It was police intervention to clear student demonstrators out of the courtyard of the Sorbonne that touched off the student rebellion last month, and this mushroomed into France's worst social and political crisis since World War II.

Calm World Makes Him Very Sick

By BURL OSBORNE
Associated Press Writer

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — John Thomas Zimmerman emerged from his dim, topsy-turvy world Monday and promptly got sick.

His world had been topsy-turvy because for three weeks, his only vision had been through strange-looking glasses that made everything he saw appear upside down and backwards.

His world had been dim because the glasses afforded only a narrow, barely light 7-degree field of vision, compared with normal vision of about 180 degrees.

The nausea came when he took off the glasses and found himself dizzy and disoriented at seeing things right side up again.

Despite the discomfort, the 19-year-old Zimmerman was pleased because his experiment had been fruitful.

The study, and a 2 1/2-month stint with right side up, but reversed, glasses before that, were aimed at learning how mind and body reactions adapt when the eyes see things as they are not.

Eventually, he said, it is hoped the pilot studies will learn to help the mind and body—possibly with the aid of hypnosis—conquer vision defects. Zimmerman, a freshman at the University of Colorado, has been nearsighted since he was born prematurely, tipping the scales at 30 ounces.

For his latest tests, he wore glasses with periscope-like prisms mounted on them.

"It feels like I'm walking upside down," he said. A firsthand view through the odd spectacles—while Zimmerman kept his eyes closed—showed such sensations as watching one's own feet appear to be approaching, and instinctively reaching to meet a proffered handshake with the left hand.

In a recent team match, both South players became declarer at three no-trump and both Wests opened the queen of hearts.

There was nothing surprising about this. We imagine that if this hand were played a million times, the same contract would be reached and the same lead made.

The play started the same way at both tables. South ducked the first heart, won the second and led his four of clubs. West played the eight, and here there was a divergence. At the first table, the eight was allowed to hold. West proceeded to lead a third heart and East proceeded to throw away his queen of clubs. It was a happy decision for his side. If he had hung on to it, South would have entered his hand with a spade or diamond, led the nine of clubs and ducked it to the queen after West played the 10. East would have been in the lead and West's heart suit would have died on the vine. As it was, West was able to gain the lead and cash two hearts.

At the other table, South rose with dummy's ace of clubs at trick three. Again East was equal to the occasion. He dropped his queen of clubs under the ace. This made both the king and 10 of clubs entries to the West hand and this declarer bit the dust also.

This happened to be an expert competition and the post-game discussion concerned itself with which line of play had made it harder for East to find the right defense. It was a sort of silly discussion, in that everyone agreed that neither East player had done more than play correctly.

We are rather inclined to compliment both Easts. It takes a lot of bridge savvy to make these fancy plays at the table, but each one came through.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Layers of Bile Salts Build Into Gallstone

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

When an acute inflammation of the gall bladder occurs it is almost always due to gallstones. In all such cases the gall bladder should be removed. What, then, of those persons who have no stones but have (allegedly) a chronic inflammation of the gall bladder? There is a growing belief among surgeons that this does not occur. When the X-rays have failed to show stones, stones are found to be present when the gall bladder is removed.

On the other hand, when vague pains in the right side of the abdomen occur and a chronic gall bladder disease is suspected, one of two things happens. Either the "gall bladder" symptoms are relieved by a course of medical treatment that would relieve a case of dyspepsia or colitis, or the gall bladder is removed but the symptoms persist because they were not coming from the gall bladder in the first place.

A recent report on the cause of gallstones indicates that when the flow of bile from the gall bladder into the intestines is impeded, the resulting stagnation favors the precipitation of bile salts. From then on there is a slow deposit of bile salt layer upon layer, and the formation of one or more stones of varying size. Prolonged fasting reduces the stimulus for the release of bile into the intestines and may thus be a contributing factor. Another factor is an infection in the digestive tract.

The question is often asked whether gallstones can be dissolved. The answer is a flat NO. One also hears from time to time about the non-surgical removal of gallstones. This is allegedly accomplished by drinking large quantities of grapefruit juice for three days, then drinking four ounces of olive oil. This might be called the hidden gallstone trick. The fruit juice favors emptying of the bowel but not of the gall bladder, then the olive oil stimulates a massive discharge of bile into the intestines. You would then pass soft lumps of saponified olive oil (false gallstones). Meanwhile, the real gallstones remain secure in your gall bladder.

Tomorrow I will have more to say about the treatment of gall bladder disease.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Alimony Road to Jail

Sentenced to prison for failing to pay alimony, an indignant husband demanded his release on constitutional grounds.

"The Constitution forbids imprisonment for debt," he argued. "I can't be put in jail just for not paying the money I owe my ex-wife."

Nevertheless, the court decided to let the sentence stand. The judge said the husband was being punished not for failing to pay a sum of money but for contempt of court.

Although this distinction may not have satisfied the husband, it carries enough weight to be recognized in most jurisdictions. What a man owes his divorced wife is not a debt—such as you might owe the corner drugist—but a personal obligation growing out of the marriage relationship itself.

It is this obligation that a divorce court is enforcing when it orders a husband to pay alimony. And when he refuses to pay, he is defying a court order—and is therefore in contempt.

But to justify sending him to jail, there must indeed be defiance, not just an inability to pay.

Thus, a husband cannot be imprisoned if, even though willing, he simply cannot make the payments. Say a man falls behind in alimony because he loses his job and can't find another. In such circumstances, a court is not likely to send him to jail—even if his ex-wife wants to put him there.

What if the husband, although broke himself, has relatives who could come to his financial rescue if they so desired?

"Throw him in jail," urged one divorcee in court, "and his relatives will show up in a hurry with the money."

But the court refused to apply this roundabout pressure. The judge pointed out that in the eyes of the law, only the husband—not his relatives—had any duty to support her.

Furthermore, for a very practical reason, imprisonment is no longer used very often in alimony cases. The big drawback is that while the husband is behind bars, he is not earning any money.

True, his incarceration might give the ex-wife some sort of satisfaction. But it will not help her to buy groceries or pay the rent.

away the position of the other by a combination of patience, propaganda and diplomacy—all based on what is happening in the war. With no major victories on either side on the battlefield the positions in Paris have held firm.

The North Vietnamese Communist newspaper, Nhan Dan, revived Monday the 1966 threat of President Ho Chi Minh that his people will fight on for 20 years or longer if necessary to defeat the United States.

The threat appeared part of Hanoi's continuing effort to maintain public opinion pressure on the United States to stop bombing North Vietnam. The argument is that if the United States doesn't halt the bombing the Paris talks will get nowhere and the war will go on for many years.

U.S. diplomats say privately that Johnson has gone as far as he can to limit attacks on the North without reciprocal moves by Ho Chi Minh to scale down operations. The President argues further cutbacks would increase the danger to U.S. and allied forces in South Vietnam.

Says Crank Using Prison Politically

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The chairman of the state Board of Correction says Rep. Marion Crank of Foreman is using the state prison system as a "political football."

"Men like Crank, who have directed the purposes for which our tax dollars shall go, are responsible for the horror of our prisons today," John Haley of Little Rock said Monday night.

Crank had charged Monday night in a speech officially opening his campaign for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination that Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller's promises of prison reform have been "only talk."

"We are defeating our purposes in the protection of society when we continue a prison system which spawns bitterness and antisocial attitudes on the part of our inmates," Haley said. "We don't want sentimental treatment of inmates; we don't want brutality, but we hospital 'has been complying with the minimum wage since it was initiated."

"The attorney general said when the intervention was filed (in April) that we could avoid paying the increase but would be liable ourselves if the state lost," he said. "We thought it better to go ahead (and comply)."

Whaley said 1,600 persons were employed by the medical center but that only about 100 were directly affected by the minimum wage. He said, however, that about 400 were affected indirectly.

"The new minimum raised wages to nearly the same level as some higher echelon workers," he said. "We had to adjust the scale further than the original minimum."

Forst said information gathered before the May special legislative session to assess the state's fiscal situation indicated that most of the agencies had already allotted for the increases.

Larey said his department may have to hire additional personnel rather than pay overtime, or else receive more money. He wasn't sure, he said, how much the increases might be.

up the trajectory of the incoming rockets and guide the counter batteries toward the enemy firing positions. Allied forces also use helicopter gunships, fighter-bombers and flareships against the enemy firing positions and send out ground sweeps by infantrymen to comb the area.

However, U.S. officers point out that the enemy gunners can get off several rounds quickly, pull out before the allies can pinpoint the firing positions and retaliate, and resume firing from another previously established position.

The rocket attack today was the 23rd since May 5, when the Viet Cong started a "peace talks" offensive against Saigon. U.S. officers say the Communist command is trying to give the impression of military strength to back up their demands at the Paris talks.

Rockefeller Stresses New Leadership

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller stressed a theme of "new leadership for a new America" today as he launched an intensive campaign to overtake Richard M. Nixon, the apparent front-runner for the Republican presidential nomination.

In a speech prepared for a National Press Club luncheon, Rockefeller said Americans "want nothing short of a new government, a new party in power, and a new leader at the head of that party."

The New York governor said "there is around us a new national mood and a new national resolve—to find a new leadership toward a new America. The Old Politics no longer suffices."

"The men of the Old Politics do not understand change," Rockefeller said. "They do not appreciate the significance of the emerging forces. And they do not seem to care."

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy died, the governor said, "because he dared to speak out on the issues before the American people."

Rockefeller said his candidacy was based on "my deep conviction" that he could "carry forward the great unfinished mission of building a better America."

The governor charged that "The Old Politics talks about its concern for the poor, the jobless, the urban decay—but dismisses concrete plans for action as 'pie in the sky'."

A new leadership, Rockefeller continued, "can recapture control of events, master them rather than let them master us, restore direction, and assert meaning and purpose in all our national life. It is to offer this new leadership that I am seeking the presidency of the United States."

Rockefeller begins an intensive television and newspaper advertising campaign in an effort to sway public opinion and Republican delegates from Nixon tonight with a nationwide television address.

One aide indicated the campaign will concentrate on Rockefeller's differences with Nixon on the issues—and the governor's theme that he is a winner and Nixon is not.

On the Democratic side, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy has scheduled a meeting with advisers, reportedly on strategy to win away Democratic National Convention delegates now favoring Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

McCarthy had already set a pattern of meetings with state delegates with a trip to Phoenix, Ariz., last Tuesday before Kennedy was shot and campaigning was suspended.

The Minnesota senator plans to resume formal campaigning Thursday with a trip to Phoenix.

Thursday with a speech to the New York Fellowship of Reconciliation.

Former Alabama Gov. George Wallace resumes his third party presidential campaign today with a 12-day swing through Southern states, beginning with a stop at Memphis, Tenn.

It is his first campaigning since the death of his wife, Gov. Lurleen Wallace, May 7.

Other political activity today includes primaries in Illinois and South Carolina and party conventions in Texas.

Illinois Democrats select 48 of their 118 national convention delegates and Republicans name 48 of their 58 delegates.

The organization Democratic slate—headed by Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley who has not said which candidate he favors—expects to win heavily despite challenges by McCarthy backers 13 to 24 districts. Nixon is expected to win considerable support among GOP delegates.

In Texas, Gov. John Connally is expected to get control as a favorite son of the state's 104 Democratic convention votes. Speculation has been that in a showdown Connally would back Humphrey for the nomination.

Texas Sen. John G. Tower is expected to hold control as a favorite son of 56 Republican votes, at least for the first ballot at the national convention.

In the South Carolina Democratic primary, incumbent Sen. Ernest Hollings is challenged by John Bolt Culbertson, a Greenville lawyer.

In other political developments:

—Two of Chicago's four newspapers have urged editorially that Sen. Edward M. Kennedy be offered the Democratic vice-presidential nomination at the national convention in Chicago. The editorials were in the Chicago Daily News and the Chicago Sun-Times.

Dr. Gilbert Mason of Biloxi, Miss., has become the first Negro ever to be chosen a Mississippi delegate to the Democratic National Convention. He was one of four delegates chosen Monday night.

Right to Bear Arms Is Fundamental

Because our congressman, John Paul Hammerschmidt, won't go along with a drastic gun-control law the Arkansas Gazette this morning calls him "a mixed-up kid" — but since any political leader attacked by the Arkansas Gazette is guaranteed re-election Mr. Hammerschmidt must be considered a success.

The Gazette finds itself in poor company when urging the outlawing of guns. One of its loudest fellow travelers is the discredited Thomas J. Dodd, senator from Connecticut, who was publicly censured by the Senate for having converted campaign funds to his personal use. If Adam Clayton Powell deserved to be expelled by the House then Thomas J. Dodd has no business sitting in the Senate and no mandate whatsoever to talk out loud.

Both the Gazette and Dodd would have you believe that the remedy for today's lawlessness is merely a matter of enacting more laws — when actually the Gazette and Dodd are preying on public ignorance.

I was startled yesterday on discovering that here in Hope supposedly educated citizens don't know that the right to keep and bear arms is one of the constitutional guarantees dating back to the very founding of the United States.

Our Constitution was adopted in 1787. Right behind it, in 1791, there were added the 10 original Amendments known as The Bill of Rights.

Article I forbids a religious establishment (state church) and guarantees freedom of speech and press and the right to petition. Article II is what we are talking about. It reads:

"Right to keep and bear arms. A well-regulated militia being necessary to the security of a free state, the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed."

Therefore Congress is blocked from any actual prohibition of domestic arms, and no matter how a radical Supreme Court might attempt to tamper with the Second Article it would be futile — for the people, knowing their rights, would defy the court . . . as they should.

We keep talking about new laws, when what we ought to be talking about is enforcement of the laws we already have. The first merely multiplies our troubles instead of remedying them. The second — the long, hard road to law and order — calls for self-discipline and sacrifice by the public.

What America needs isn't more law, but more and better-paid police, a better and more costly system of prosecution, and more and better-paid courts so that justice may be dealt out efficiently and promptly.

These are inflation days. We have money to squander on everything except law enforcement — and mounting crime is our negligence's pay-off.

Laws are only paper documents. It takes men and money to turn them into enforcement — which their failure to recognize is hardly to Americans' credit.

Showers in Arkansas Are Expected

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
 Dry air aloft prevented thundershowers from developing in Arkansas Monday but shower activity is expected mainly in the northwest half of the state tonight.

The shower activity is expected to move into South Arkansas Wednesday.

Cooler temperatures are expected in the north portion of the state Wednesday, but warm and humid weather is predicted for the remainder of Arkansas.

The temperature climbed into the 90s over most of the state Monday. Blytheville was the warmest with a 96 reading and Fayetteville was the coolest with a high of 87. All other stations reported readings in the 90s.

Overnight low temperatures ranged from 68 at Harrison to 75 at Texarkana. No rainfall was reported during the 24-hour period ended at 7 a.m.

Education Budget Wipes Out Reserves

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The State Board of Education approved Monday a record $104 million budget that apparently will wipe out the reserves in the Public School Fund.

The proposed budget would provide $500 average raises for 18,750 public school teachers in the next fiscal year, but part of the budget is contingent on a legislative bill Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller has yet to sign into law.

The bill is HB 25, adopted by the special legislative session in May, and would provide $2 million to the department this fiscal year and another $4 million in fiscal 1968-69, which begins July 1.

But even with that money to soften the blow, the proposed budget apparently will use up the balance of the Public School Fund about one year from now.

When the current school year started last July 1, the school fund had a balance of $5,052,564. It will be down to $2,462,250 by the end of this school year June 30, according to Joe L. Hudson, associate commissioner of finance for the Education Department.

By the end of the next school year, at June 30, 1969, all the money probably will be gone, Hudson said.

He also said that in providing the extra money for schools through passage of HB 25, the legislature reduced the budget revolving fund to a dangerously low figure of $7 million.

"Things don't look too bright," he said.

The teacher pay increases will cost about $9,375,000, Hudson told the board.

Other major budget items: $82.5 million in minimum foundation aid, up $9.3 million from the current budget and due to the teacher salary increase; $7.7 million for teacher retirement, $600,000 higher than the current year and required by law; and $7.1 million for transportation aid, the same as in the current year.

The budget also provided $40,000 to help pay legal fees incurred by school districts involved in court cases related to desegregation.

Some members of the Board of Education expressed concern over where the department would obtain funds to advance to the public schools for August 1969, but most decided that the regular 1969 legislative session would have to solve the problem.

Retiring Bad Enough Without All of Those Remarks People Make

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks a man gets tired of hearing — or overhearing — on the eve of retirement:

"So this is your last week, Ned, is that why they called in the accountants to give the petty cash fund a last quick check-over?"

"The old gang will sure miss you at the water cooler, old-timer. I guess you put in more time hanging around it than any body."

"What are you going to do with all the dough you stashed away? I hear you're going to become a silent partner with Howard Hughes and buy up the rest of Las Vegas."

"Well we put up with you for 40 years. Now it's your wife's turn."

"If you're not leaving until Friday, how about lending me a last $20."

"I know my husband has earned a good rest after all these years in that office suit mine, but I simply don't know what I'll do with him. I'm not used to having a man underfoot around the house, day in and day out."

"Ned, the boss wanted to throw you a farewell fete at the executive lunch club, but asked me to take you as he couldn't make it. Now I find I may be out of town that day. How about us stopping off at the tavern down the street today and having a couple of quick ones instead? Gee, that's great, I knew you'd be big about it."

Commission May Set Up Rules Governing Action of Candidates

WASHINGTON (AP) — A presidential commission has formally embarked on a study of violence in America and President Johnson whether campaigning candidates should be limited in their physical contact with voters.

Johnson met with the 10-member group at the White House for the first time Monday, signed the executive order creating it for one year and said he was asking Congress to give it subpoena powers.

He also gave it what he called a simple and direct charge in which he expressed the hope it would find "understanding and insight into the kinds of violent aberrations which have struck down public figures and private citizens alike."

Besides this, Johnson told the commission he hoped it would uncover the causes of disrespect for law and order, violent disruptions by groups and individuals and other ways to control or prevent such outbreaks.

Among the many facets of violence touched upon, was the safety of campaigning.

"Does the democratic process which stresses exchanges of ideas permit less physical contact with masses of people — as a matter of security against the deranged individual and obsessed fanatic?" Johnson asked.

The commission was named by Johnson last Wednesday, the same day Sen. Robert F. Kennedy was felled by an assassin's bullet after a political victory speech in California.

Johnson told the commission, headed by Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, educator and brother of the former president, that it faced a difficult task.

He suggested among other things that it look into the possibility the seeds of violence are "nurtured through the public's airwaves, the screens of neighborhood theaters, the news media, and other forms of communication that reach the family and our children."

While no one on either side here expects any major breakthrough for some time, perhaps months, Western diplomats expect occasional tactical maneuvers by Hanoi and Washington of importance to the long-range peace outlook.

Harriman returned Monday night from a weekend trip to the United States to attend the funeral of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. He also conferred with President Johnson and if he came back with any new ideas they would presumably begin to show up in the discussion Wednesday.

U.S. diplomats also hope to get some indication soon, perhaps Wednesday, of the significance of the assignment to Paris of a member of the North Vietnamese Communist party politburo. Le Duc Tho arrived a week ago to serve as "special counselor" to Xuan Thuy. He did not attend last Wednesday's meeting, the explanation being that he was tired from traveling. He is expected to show up Wednesday.

Tougher Gun Bills Considered

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress, which has just passed a gun-control bill labeled by President Johnson as too weak, is now considering two tougher measures.

Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., a principal proponent of gun-control, sponsored the bills Monday. They would require federal registration of all firearms and outlaw mail-order sales of rifles and shotguns.

Congress sent to the President last week a measure which would ban mail-order sales of pistols. But Johnson, speaking in strong terms following the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, said a tougher measure is needed to keep guns out of the hands of irresponsible people. He specified a need to ban sale of long guns through the mails.

As Congress continued to debate gun control, a widespread movement appeared to be developing in which people are turning in their guns to local authorities.

And some stores have stopped selling guns and ammunition, with one dime store saying it wouldn't even sell toy guns any more.

There were also calls for action from local and state officials as the drive for gun controls was stepped up following the Kennedy shooting.

Dodd's federal registration bill would cover all cases except in states that have their own registration laws. Sources said the only such states are New Jersey and Hawaii.

The penalty for having an unregistered gun under the Dodd bill would be a $2,000 fine and two years in prison.

Dodd's other measure would ban the mail-order sale of rifles, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., sponsored this measure earlier this year but the Senate rejected it, going along instead only with the ban on mail-order pistols sales.

Also introduced in the Senate in the wake of the Kennedy assassination was a bill that would make it a federal crime to kill, assault or kidnap a Congress or Cabinet member.

Johnson has not indicated whether he will sign the bill containing the ban on mail-order pistols sales.

That is only one provision in a sweeping anticrime bill which has controversial sections to give police wiretapping and "bugging" authority and prosecutors more free use of confessions.

U.S. Trying to Get Ray Back Quickly

By COLIN FROST
 Associated Press Writer
 LONDON (AP) — U.S. legal experts worked today on plans to take James Earl Ray quickly and safely back to the United States for trial while police on both sides of the Atlantic continued their investigation to learn whether Ray had helped in his four-nation flight.

American authorities took the first formal step toward extradition Monday night by obtaining a provisional British warrant charging Ray with the murder of civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Some legal experts suggested the British government might speed up the process by deporting Ray as an undesirable alien. But other lawyers said there is a strong tradition against using this procedure as a substitute for extradition.

The 40-year-old escaped convict was held in Brixton Prison after his two-minute appearance Monday in Bow Street Court on charges of carrying a forged passport and a loaded gun, the charges on which he was arrested at London Airport Saturday under the name of Ramon George Sneyd.

Ray at his first court appearance Monday was assigned a British lawyer at his own request and ordered held without bail for another hearing June 18 on the passport and gun charges.

If extradition proceedings are brought, the court will require evidence of a case against Ray and he will then have 15 days to appeal to the High Court. If Ray's lawyers raised points of law there, a further appeal might be made to the House of Lords and the process could take months.

In the two months American authorities searched for Ray following King's assassination April 4 in Memphis, Tenn., he went from the United States to Canada on April 8, to London May 6 and to Lisbon May 8. He left his Lisbon hotel on May 17 and surfaced again in London on May 28.

Police in those countries sought anyone who might have known or helped Ray, and authorities in Canada also tried to learn how Ray obtained information on the three Toronto men whose names he used as aliases.

All three men have dark hair and are about the same height and weight as Ray.

Ramon George Sneyd, whose name Ray used on his passport, is a Toronto constable. Paul Bridgman, whose name Ray used at one Toronto rooming house, is a consultant teacher with the Toronto board of education.

Ray first was sought under the name Eric Starvo Galt. Eric St. Vincent Galt, a Toronto warehouse foreman, has a signature which looks like Eric Starvo Galt. He uses the middle initials St. V., but with small zeros instead of periods.

Handcuffed by Court for Years, Police Finally Get a Break

By BARRY SCHWEID

 WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court, accused for years of handcuffing the police, has bowed to the judgment of the cop on the beat.

As a practical matter, said eight of the nine justices Monday, he can't be expected to run off to a judge for a warrant every time his practiced eye picks out suspicious behavior.

Moreover, the eight agreed, it is only reasonable that he pat down the suspect or suspects if he fears his questions may be answered with a bullet or a knife-sweep.

"Such a search is a reasonable search under the Fourth Amendment," the justices concluded, "and any weapons seized may properly be introduced in evidence against the person from whom they were taken."

Chief Justice Earl Warren assigned himself the job of announcing the landmark criminal law decision, as he has so often

Group Says Sirhan to Hire Lawyer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The man accused of killing Sen. Robert F. Kennedy will choose a lawyer soon, says the American Civil Liberties Union.

The announcement came as investigators continued to probe the murder and Sirhan Bishara Sirhan, 24, remained under tight security guard at Los Angeles County Jail. An ACLU lawyer talked with Sirhan.

Ed Cray of the ACLU's Southern California chapter said Superior Court Judge Richard Schauer would confer with officials of the county bar association to choose attorneys from "more than a dozen top lawyers" who have volunteered to take Sirhan's case without pay. He wouldn't name the lawyers.

Leonard S. Janofsky, president-elect of the bar association, issued a statement which said his group had no official request yet to help choose counsel for Sirhan but would act promptly if asked.

Sirhan, a native of Jordan admitted to the United States as a permanent resident, has been represented by a deputy public defender, Wilbur Littlefield.

Meanwhile, the bystander most seriously injured when Kennedy was shot early Wednesday said he doesn't

Ban Could Prevent Some School Bonds

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The State Board of Education was told Monday that a ban on pre-sale contracts for bond issues may prevent smaller school districts from floating bond issues.

The regulation was adopted May 12 by the State Securities Department and, according to Board Member Jim DuPree of Warren, was aimed at providing "true competitive rates" on bond issue sales.

But Mrs. Thelma Spinnenwebber, an Education Department loan supervisor, told the board that the pre-sale arrangements often saved the smaller districts money because brokers eager to buy the bonds often footed the bill for attorneys' fees and other costs.

In view of the new regulation, the districts will apparently have to pay these costs, she said.

Mrs. Spinnenwebber said this may discourage small districts from floating bond issues.

The board told her to gather data on the problem and submit it to the board at its next meeting, which will be in September.
